About the park

A peaceful garden park ideal for bird and nature watching. This is a pedestrian only park and no dogs or games are allowed.

History

Elizabeth Welchman moved to Down Lodge in the 1880's. Upon her death in 1906, she left a chalk pit to the Parish of Epsom with £500 for its upkeep as a recreation ground. Due to difficulties with the site, it was not opened to the public until 1956.
